Red Hat Enterprise Linux Technical Overview («RH024»)

This course consists of a series of no-cost, on-demand, online videos that provide a technical introduction to Linux® for IT professionals.

Price: 0.–

Content

Register here for the free video learning.

The videos will demonstrate basic practical techniques of Linux use and system administration tasks for professionals new to the operating system who are interested in preparing for further study. You will be introduced to why Linux and the open source development model is so important in today's computing environment.

Note: You can view all videos or only the ones that interest you. There are no hands-on labs or course completion recognition associated with this course.

- Video 1: Why do IT professionals need experience with Linux?
- Video 2: Why does the open source development model matter?
- Video 3: What is a Linux distribution?
- Video 4: What is the shell and how is it used to control program?
- Video 5: What is the Linux kernel and what is user space?
- Video 6: Orientation to Linux graphic user interface
- Video 7: Files in Linux
- Video 8: The file system hierarchy
- Video 9: Editing text files in a terminal
- Video 10: Users and groups
- Video 11: File permissions
- Video 12: How do I manage software in Red Hat® Enterprise Linux?
- Video 13: How do I configure networking from the command line?
- Video 14: How do I control system start-up processes?
- Video 15: How do I learn more about Linux?

Target audience

IT leaders, administrators, engineers, architects, and anyone else seeking a high-level understanding of Linux.

Any questions?

We are happy to advise you on +41 44 447 21 21 or info@digicomp.ch. You can find detailed information about dates on www.digicomp.ch/courses-digital-transformation-technologies/cloud/video-learning-red-hat-enterprise-linux-technical-overview